Lehman Opens Way For Adjournment On May 7 By Budget Concessions

Governor Warns Republican Assembly It Will Have to Take Responsibility for Consequences Highly Dangerous for Future.

"BURDEN IS OURS"

Heck Acknowledges Burden of Blame; Lehman Reviews Entire Situation.

Albany, N. Y., April 21 (AP).—Governor Lehman held a white flag over his battle-scarred budget today in token of capitulation, but he warned the Republican assembly leaders they had to take responsibility for consequences that "will be greatly dangerous for the future."

Thus, the chief executive opened the way for the legislature to reduce the gasoline tax one cent, end the month-long deadlock over the $308,911,000 budget and bring legislative adjournment not later than May 7.

The Republican assembly majority cut the budget by about $16,000,000—including a deferment of $11,160,010 in debt payments—so as to permit the gas tax reduction. The Democratic-controlled senate restored all but $868,974, but was otherwise obdurate.

In a 2,000 word message to the assembly the governor said: "You have full power to flout the constitution, to unbalance the budget and to create a shortage of revenues which are needed to meet the debt obligation of the state. With power, however, goes responsibility and if you now elect to place temporary expediency above sound government the responsibility will be yours alone."

"Burden Is Ours."

Immediately, Republican Assembly Majority Leader Oswald D. Heck off the floor replied that "we accept the responsibility for our acts."

After pointing out that he does not intend "to match obstinacy with obstinacy," the governor told the Republican assemblymen "if you adhere to your past position and continue to refuse to include this item of debt service in the budget, I will advise the members of the senate no longer to oppose your position nor to delay adjournment of the legislature."

As the bi-partisan committee previously created to attempt to break the deadlock prepared to meet for a third time, sources within the party indicated the Republicans would stand pat on the deferment.

Observers on both parties were careful to point out, however, that Governor Lehman referred only to the debt service item—leaving under discussion nearly $5,000,000 in other items involving state salaries and appropriations.

They expressed the belief that further bargaining would be made within the committee on the remaining items, with a quick compromise likely.

Governor's Summary.

Meanwhile, the governor reviewed the whole situation, from his introduction of the budget last January, summing up the resume with this statement:

"The failure of the assembly to provide for debt service for the full twelve months of the fiscal year (ending June 30, 1937) will have these results:

"The clear mandate of our state constitution will have been deliberately violated by the legislature.

"A shortage of revenues in the amount of $11,160,010 will have been deliberately created.

"The executive budget for the fiscal year 1936-37 will have been deliberately unbalanced.

"No provision will have been made for moneys necessary to meet the debt service in full. The result will be that the amount by which the budget is short will have to be borrowed. This will mean an increase of $11,160,010 in the already substantial short term borrowings of the state.

"A highly dangerous precedent will have been established, one which may seriously injure governmental credit generally."

Hardly had the chief executive's message been read than the Republican leadership lashed back bitterly through Heck and Assemblyman Abbot Low Moffat, chairman of the ways and means committee, which proposed the budget eliminations.

"The language of this message is a smoke screen on the whole idea of the Republican reduction proposals," Moffat said.

"I deny absolutely that the action (debt deferment) is in any way unconstitutional, with all due respect to a Democratic attorney general and a Democratic governor."

Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr., had declared that deferment of debt payments is unconstitutional. Heck said "it is high time the governor stopped fooling the people in connection with this budget."

"We all know what disturbs the governor," he said "it's the old parcel parade. He's out to give people jobs. He's out to get votes."

Assemblyman John Hayes, Albany county Democrat, defended the governor.

"The governor is sincere," he said. "Every day we remain here is costing the taxpayers of the state $2,000. Some 60 employees of your assembly

Kingston Store Is Set for Ward Week

In keeping with an annual merchandising custom, the local Montgomery Ward department store on Fair street will cooperate with other Montgomery Ward retail units throughout the United States in Ward Week. This extensive sale, put on with increasing success by the Kingston store for the past few years, will begin Wednesday, April 22, according to E. A. Tetzlaff, manager of the Montgomery Ward store in this city.

Advertised as the nation's greatest bargain sale, the local organization has been working for some time in anticipation of the event. The store's merchandising manager, E. J. Renaldi, has been busy lining up bargains for the Kingston store in the expectation this year's Ward Week will far overshadow the values of past years.

A heavy advertising schedule will be employed locally to get this annual sale before the buying public of Kingston and vicinity. Although certain that previous Ward Weeks have given the public a good idea of the multitude of values this special sale offers, the local management has nevertheless gone the limit in an effort to make Ward Week this year the biggest and best ever offered in Kingston.

With prices on the upswing throughout the merchandise market, the local store feels that the time is propitious for a sale of this nature. Many of the bargains which will be placed on sale beginning Wednesday were purchased months in advance with Ward Week in mind.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, April 21 (AP).—The position of the treasury April 18: Receipts, $8,296,112.10; expenditures, $24,000,547.20. Not balance, $2,589,543.08. Customs receipts for the month $2,214,620.16. Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $2,252,712,772. Total expenditures, $5,750,322,358. Including $2,424,469,245.05 of emergency expenditures. Gross debt, $21,444,618,642.15, a decrease of $2,019,321.25 under the previous day. Gold assets, $10,206,321,600.65.

4 Executed in Orient

Tokyo, April 21 (AP).—A Domo (Japanese) news agency dispatch from Hankow said Maj. Gen. Line Sheng, former governor of Hainan Province, Northern Manchoukiao, and three other high officials were executed today for plotting subversive movements. Mongol officials in the Japanese-dominated government, they were arrested early last week, charged with plotting, conducting espionage and giving military information to Soviet Russia in connection with recent Far Eastern border incidents.

were forced to resign their jobs because of the lack of funds. This condition was brought on by purchases.

Geneva, April 21 (AP).—The League of Nations dropped its active campaign for East African conciliation today with its position admittedly imperiled by failure and with Ethiopia protesting against the lack of action by the council.

After adopting a resolution shortly before midnight regretting the collapse of conciliation, continuing the imposition of sanctions and addressing a supreme appeal to Italy for peace, the council adjourned until its next regular session, set for May 11.

A revival of the peace efforts was scheduled, thus, to be undertaken after the French parliamentary elections of April 26 and May 3, but league sources said even that was uncertain.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Great Britain delivered a plain, two-fold warning to the council as a result of the peace failure.

He declared, at the council's public session last night, that the nations must expect no help from Britain if they became involved in difficulties unless they would be prepared to take combined action now against the adjudged Fascist aggressors.

Loss of Faith

He warned, also, that Great Britain might lose its faith in the value of the league and turn to other ways of safeguarding its own interests unless the nations fulfill their duties under the collective security guaranteed by the league.

His words were interpreted as an indication that Great Britain, one of the leaders of the league, might withdraw from Geneva one day, just as Japan and Germany have withdrawn.

The Ethiopian delegate, Wolde Mariam, addressing the council, which seven months ago solemnly condemned the Italian war, asked of the last resolution addressed to Italy:

"Is this the effective assistance to which the member states obligated themselves in signing Article XVI of the pact (which provides for sanctions)? Is this fulfillment of the promise made by the League of Nations in October, 1935, to the victim of aggression?"

The council nevertheless accepted the resolution, recognizing that the war persisted, contrary to the league covenant, and asking Italy to settle the conflict in the spirit which the league expected from a member.

Rome, April 21.—Premier Mussolini proclaimed today to thousands of cheering Romans, celebrating the 2,639th anniversary of the founding of Rome, "Our ship has arrived in port with all sails spread."

He spoke from the balcony of his offices in the Piazza Venezia, where a great throng gathered to observe the holiday, corresponding to America's Labor Day. Other crowds celebrated the occasion throughout the kingdom.

"Today in the city of Rome we celebrate the double festival of labor and victory," Duce declared. "After difficult navigation, our ship has arrived in port with all sails spread. As it always will, to carry the power, justice and civilization of Rome."

Mussolini appeared in higher spirits than he had for many weeks. He seemed stern as he came to his office balcony, clad in the gray-green uniform of an honorary corporal of the Fascist militia, but the cheers of the crowd brought a broad smile to his face.

Willing to Listen

Informed Fascist sources said, while Duce was raising his cry of victory, that Italy was willing to listen to a "supreme appeal" from the League of Nations for peace, but only on the preliminary conditions already presented.

Those conditions, submitted at Geneva yesterday by Baron Pompeo Aloisi, were occupation of Addis Ababa and other principal Ethiopian centers, and Italian control over mobilization points and frontier posts.

Congress Surges Ahead For Adjournment, Takes Tax, Relief Bills Only

House Leaders Plan to Give Controversial Measures Right of Way for Three Weeks, Thence to Senate.

NO ARMS BOOST

Armaments Stationary Unless Other Nations Force U. S. Action; Little Housing Hope.

Washington, April 21 (AP).—The surge toward adjournment started in Congress today, with House leaders sidetracking everything else to make way for the tax and relief bills.

In an effort to get these two controversial measures to the Senate as soon as possible, House leaders planned to give them the right of way on the floor for the next three weeks.

Democrats on the House ways and means committee decided to report the tax bill to the floor today, with debate slated to begin tomorrow.

The measure, containing a revision of the corporation tax structure, originally was drawn to raise $799,000,000 but because of subsequent changes committee members refrained from predictions about the yield, pending the receipt of official treasury estimates.

Republicans prepared for a fight. The minority on the ways and means committee was drafting a report which, they hinted, would say that no new taxes would be needed if the government would cut expenses.

But the House leaders hoped, however, to pass the bill next week, and to take up the following week President Roosevelt's request for a $1,600,000,000 relief appropriation for next year.

To Senate May 1

This would get the complicated revenue bill over to the Senate on May 1, and the relief bill probably the week following. By concentrating on these two measures, administration leaders hoped to wind up the session early in June.

In keeping with this program, Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.), announced the Senate finance committee would not wait for the House to pass the tax bill, but would begin hearings Thursday, the same day the House starts debate on it.

An idea of the gap in the expected revenues caused by the invalidation of AAA taxes, was given today when a treasury report indicated that all internal revenue collections for this fiscal year might be $300,000,000 less than was forecast by the President when he submitted his budget just before AAA's invalidation.

Collections in all other major tax classifications, as well as the total internal revenue, are running ahead of last year.

No Arms Boost

President Roosevelt went of record today with a formal announcement that the United States will not boost its armaments unless other nations make such a step necessary.

Supporting "adequate" defenses Mr. Roosevelt sent a message to the 45th Continental Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution last night, outlining a two-fold policy:

"First, we propose to press, continually, for a limitation of armaments by international agreement.

"Second, failing to get that, we will make no increase of our own armaments unless other powers by increasing their armaments, make increase by us necessary to our national safety."

Because of the death of Colonel Louis M. Howe, his secretary, the President did not appear personally at the congress, but sent a letter to Mrs. William A. Becker, president-general.

"We have a disinterested, consistent, and successful foreign policy," he said. "It is not we who have thought of a war of aggression on the part of the United States. We stand firmly by our solemn treaty obligation announcing war as an instrument of national policy."

Little Housing Hope

Despite a barrage of testimony in favor of the $75,000,000 Wagner low-cost housing bill, Senate leaders saw little chance today that it would pass at this session of Congress.

They believed it would lose out because of the desire to adjourn Congress as quickly as possible and because administrative officials are not agreed on all details of a housing program.

At a Senate committee hearing yesterday, several proponents spoke for the Jones and Landon W. Post, New York city's tenement house commissioner.

The bill provides appropriations and bonding authority of $75,000,000 for expenditures during the next ten years to provide homes for an estimated 300,000 to 400,000 slum families.

14 Miles, Straight Up, Is Goal

Industries Brought To Kingston Recently

Talking among themselves recently about promotion of the Industrial Minsirel to be held in Readle's Kingston Theatre, Friday night, May 1, the Mayor's Committee brought to light that 425 jobs had been brought to Kingston through the efforts of the same men who are hustling for the success of the show, proceeds of which will be used for the promotion of industry here.

Out of the little conference, an unofficial gathering, where the men talked on the past and future of Kingston, came the information that during the past two years seven new industries were brought to Kingston by the same citizens who have been willing and ready always with their energy and financial aid to do the best thing for this city.

The Industries:

Country Club Dresses, Inc., manufacturers of dresses, occupying the upper floor of Smith and Grand street building. 70

Beacon Company, Tailor Bldg., dress manufacturers. 125

Knitwear Co., O'Neill street. 75

Fisher Brothers, Deyo street, woodworkers. 40

Quality Maple Block Co., Lorillard Plant. 15

Northern Neckwear Co., Pine Grove avenue. 40

Total. 425

Number of men employed. 150

The men who have brought these seven industries to Kingston, initiated by their attitude that they intend to continue in their efforts to build this city industrially. It has cost them time and money to do this. They need cooperation, and the minstrel show will afford an opportunity for every Kingstonian to lend his aid, to do his part in this great movement to boost this old Colonial city which has been stripped of its main lines of employment and needs new ones in order to revive it to the point where it was when the boatyards were in full swing, the cigar factories flourished, likewise the brickyards on the outskirts and the old Ulster and Delaware railroad shops.

Many a man on the Industrial Committee has spent a goodly amount of money trying to promote Kingston and given generously of his time and effort besides. Every one of the committee is still fighting on and on for the salvation of the city, and looks for a little help from his neighbors, friends and the "come-back."

The Committee believes success of the minstrel depends on each and every citizen, who can do his part toward this end, and ultimately toward helping Kingston to prosper by buying a ticket. They are proud to see the financial condition of all so that every real Kingston booster might have a chance to say, "I have done something to help even though I may not be overburdened with this world's goods."

When Valentine made the announcement at police headquarters, Florence was being held at some midtown point which police did not divulge. She said he would be taken back to the scene of the crime during the afternoon.

Florence has a record of four arrests, police said, and was sent to Elmira Reformatory for grand larceny on one complaint. In two other cases he was given suspended sentences, and one complaint was dismissed.

All the previous arrests had been for burglary or grand larceny. When Valentine made the announcement at police headquarters, Florence was being held at some midtown point which police did not divulge. She said he would be taken back to the scene of the crime during the afternoon.

Florence was arrested this morning and was questioned for several hours by District Attorney Dodge and Valentine.

PERIL IS GREATER

Engineers Say Rescue is Close, Measured in Feet, But Hours Away in Time.

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

Moose River, N. S., April 21.—Two men entombed for more than eight days in the Moose River gold mine indicated today they desired to dictate their wills through a 100-foot tube from the surface to the cavern in which they were imprisoned.

Jagged rocks and boot-churned mud had hampered the hardy rescuers toiling to free the two men.

The scene of the unceasing day and night labor lies out in the hinterlands of picturesque Nova Scotia, with fine mountain scenery and rushing salmon and trout streams far behind.

The lake that lies above the scene of operations has been a wordless threat in itself—as workmen have feared a dynamite blast to loosen a way to the trapped men might also loosen a fissure in the rock and allow a subterranean torrent to drown them.

Dynamiting stopped yesterday, and the rescuers, men of the northlands who are used to ordinary hardships, have been tugging with hands and hand tools at the remaining walls of the gold-impregnated dungeon.

No vacation land this area—just a land of stones and scrub trees where fagged men have been struggling to reach two men fighting madness and death behind a rock wall.

Doctor Gives Instructions

With desperate rescue workers still uncertain when they would be able to break through to the underground pit, Dr. D. E. Robertson asked that his brother-in-law, Charles Ivey of London, Ont., come to the tube to take down instructions.

Those instructions were for what should be done in the event the rescue crew failed to reach the tomb in time.

Dr. Robertson apparently despaired of the relief which had been promised him and Charles Alfred Scadding, mine timekeeper, after a night of anxiety during which the rescue workers believed they were close to their objective, but still had not reached it.

Not reached it. The imprisoned men evidently envisaged the same fate that befell their companion, Herman Magill, who perished early yesterday being trapped with Dr. Robertson and Scadding by a cave-in Easter Sunday night.

One squad of fresh volunteers joined the crew still striving frantically to rescue the two survivors before they died.

Another call went out for volunteers—able-bodied men willing to carry out rock and earth as the miners dug.

Rescuers Exhausted

Men who formerly had stayed below ground, working in four-hour shifts and longer, now were laboring only 15 minutes at a time.

They came up for air gasping. Perspiration rolled from their grimy skins.

It was apparent that exhaustion was near for the men working on coffee and rum.

The Royal Canadian Mounted police, polling the district which has grown rapidly in population with the arrival of mining officials, relatives, engineering experts, volunteers, newspapermen and spectators, have a plane on a lake close by the workings.

It was difficult to force trucks and cars over the walls of mud covering the way to Middle Musquodoboit in the spring, but officials sent a 28-ton crane over the road.

Before asking for his brother-in-law, Dr. Robertson, speaking through the tube asked for a pen to write instructions concerning what should be done if he and his companion were not rescued soon.

Still earlier, he had told the men at the surface that he and Scadding had just enjoyed two hours of sleep 141 feet below the surface and were feeling fine.

The two brothers of the mine cave-in were fed through the tube. There made by a diamond drill, and it was believed they could be kept alive at least 24 hours more.

Such volunteers arrived from Goldville, a nearby town in this gold field of Nova Scotia, in response to an appeal for experienced men, unharmed and willing to risk their lives in the effort to save the two men.

They went to the dangerous Regatta shaft, believed to lead to the spot where Dr. Robertson and Scadding were held, to replace a similar number of weary workers who had collapsed from exhaustion.

Other Nova Scotia men, who had been on the job more than 24 hours with a sleep were ordered to the backwash. Engineers said rescue was close—

Rondout Lodge Had "Homecoming Night" For D. D. G. M. Carey

Many High Officials in Masonic District Attend to Pay Honor to District Deputy Grand Master P. H. Carey as He Made Official Visit to His Home Lodge.

P. H. Carey, district deputy grand master of the Greene-Ulster Masonic District, made his official visit to his home lodge, Rondout Lodge, No. 843, Free and Accepted Masons, on Monday evening and was accorded the honors due to his station by a large assembly of Master Masons of the district. Henry Millonig, Jr., master of Rondout Lodge, and his committee had worked hard to make the event one of the outstanding Masonic events in the history of the lodge. During the evening several reels of moving pictures, furnished by the Grand Lodge, were shown and the refreshment committee served a turkey dinner at the close of the lodge.

District Deputy Carey is a past master of Rondout Lodge, and during the past winter he has been busy making his official visits to the Masonic Lodges in the Greene-Ulster District, and he closed his series of official visits last evening with bringing the message of the grand master of the state to the members of Rondout Lodge.

The evening was marked by the attendance of a number of former district deputies, and of the masters and past masters of a number of lodges in the district. The past district deputies in attendance were Dr. Samuel Stern, Charles H. Gregory of Rondout Lodge, Congressman Philip A. Goodwin of Coxsack; J. W. Foster of Highland; Claude H. Heath of Catskill; Roger H. Loughran of Kingston Lodge, Milo Claude Mosman of Hunter, and George Buelman of Ellenville. District Deputy Grand Lecturer Edward Henderson was also present.

The past masters of lodges in the district and adjoining districts were Edwin L. Clark of Highland, Harry Burden of Liberty, Leslie Lyons and Charles Lebert of Kingston Lodge, Carl Brown, Russell Walker and Gary Brown of Ellenville, Raymond Ives of Windham, Leland Silveus of Monticello, Arthur Merritt of Monticello, George H. Smith, Percy M. Abeel, Clarence Hallenbeck of Saugerties, A. W. Tongue, E. J. Ellis, W. Edgar Powley, Clarence S. Rowland, Louis A. Seaman, Jr., of Rondout Lodge.

The present masters of lodges who were present were W. H. Bohnor of Windham, Edward R. Mance of Ellenville, H. Russell Decker of Hunter, Floyd S. Parks of Catskill, the Rev. George R. Cole of New Baltimore, E. G. Finley of Highland and Roy L. Brower of Kingston.

District Deputy Carey was escorted into the lodge room by Past District Deputy Samuel Stern, and Brother Carey spoke at some length on topics of interest to the craft and brought to them the message of the grand master of the state. He told of the activities of the grand lodge in promoting the work of the Masonic Home in Utica, and of other grand lodge activities. At the close of his interesting address District Deputy Carey was presented with a handsome gold watch.

The presentation was made by Past District Deputy Claude H. Heath of Catskill on behalf of the members of the Greene-Ulster Masonic District. The lodge then closed and the social hour followed. The Grand Lodge had furnished several reels of exceptional humorous motion pictures. One was that of Barnyard Lodge No. 1, an animated cartoon comedy, and the second was a two reel feature based on what secrets should a Mason tell his wife when she questions him regarding his experiences in riding the lodge goat while being initiated into the mysteries of the order. The picture was based on a yarn written by Albert Payson Terhune, the well known author. Taylor Holmes was the featured actor with Polly Moran playing opposite him.

Dr. Stern, who presided as toastmaster at the dinner served the brothers, said that the entertainment committee had decided that it would prove an interesting change to substitute the moving pictures in place of after dinner addresses, and for present to stand up and talk. Dr. Stern briefly reviewed the work carried on by the Masonic fraternity at the Masonic Home in Utica.

Two other red letter events slated for the May meetings of Rondout Lodge are the celebration of Veterans' Night on May 4, and the honoring of George B. Main Night on May 18. Mr. Main this year is celebrating a quarter of a century service as tiller on Rondout Lodge.

Walt Disney, Mickey Mouse creator, has one dark secret: he never reveals the identity of the "voices" behind his animated cartoon characters.

WEST SHOKAN

West Shokan, April 20.—The results of the recent annual meeting of the Tongore Cemetery Association held at the Odd Fellows' Hall Monday evening, April 6, were as follows: Directors elected for three years were Harlow McLean, Charles Hesley, Henry Winchell, William Benjamin was elected for two years. William Jordan re-elected president; Charles Hesley elected vice-president; Charles Allen re-elected secretary; Jacob V. Merrihew re-elected treasurer; Harlow McLean re-elected superintendent. There was a meeting of the Board of Directors held on the cemetery grounds at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon for the purpose of mapping out a maintenance plan and adding improvements for the current year.

Friday evening a delegation of the members of Shokan I. O. O. F. Lodge went to Bearville with candidate Edward Schwab where the Second Degree was conferred by the ever obliging members of Bearville Lodge. Saturday evening the Third or Scarlet Degree was conferred at the home lodge at Olive Bridge. There was a large turnout of the members present including a group of visiting brothers from Hiawatha and Bearville lodges. After the session there was an enjoyable social period and a generous serving of refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brocas returned to the city Sunday after spending a week getting pepped up in the bracing March-like weather. The couple plan to return later for their usual summer relaxation.

A number of west side folks attended Elmer Bedell's farm equipment auction Saturday afternoon at Shokan. Although there was a large attendance of prospective buyers present, the sale was not in proportion, due it is understood to the fact that minimum prices set on many articles by Mr. Bedell were considered rather steep. John Keller, the veteran auctioneer, officiated as master of ceremonies.

The glum backward weather still keeps the reservoir country in customary mid March slivers. Heavy snow squalls enveloped the mountains Saturday while snow whitened the ground further up the Esopus valley. The last growth has remained quite sensibly dormant since the later March burst of May time.

Harry Jordan of Roxbury was a caller here on Sunday. He reports that Delaware county has had a fairly good maple syrup season in the vicinity of Roxbury.

Aarlen Van Wageningen and Richard Traver were entertained as supper guests with friends at West Shokan Heights.

There will be a farmers' meeting at the Olive Bridge I. O. O. F. Hall at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, April 22, under the auspices of the county soil conservation committee, which will present an opportunity for all interested to learn about the new federal program through which payments are to be made to farmers for certain crop diversion and for performing certain soil building practices. An ample opportunity will be given to ask questions. Similar meetings are being held this week in various parts of the county.

Miss Helen Thompson of Kingston spent the week-end at her home here. On Sunday she dined with her grandmother, Mrs. May McGowen.

On Wednesday the West Shokan Community Ladies Aid will hold an all day meeting at the church basement. The usual bounteous noon day luncheon will be served. Visitors are always cordially welcome at the gatherings.

Miss Edna Gessner of Greenwich, Conn., spent Saturday night and Sunday at West Shokan Heights.

The Misses Florence and Virginia Krom and Mickey Crawford returned home late in the week to Olive Bridge after spending a much socially enjoyed Easter vacation.

Monday morning commuting Kingston High School students climbed aboard the meandering school bus chauffeured by their always cheerful and obliging driver, Keator Bouton. Their Easter vacation over, now comes the long grind till June exams and good old summer recess.

It is evident that Olive Odd Fellows and Rebekahs will look to the fraternity anniversary dinner and dance which will be held Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at Governor Clinton Hotel, Kingston. A specially pleasing program is anticipated.

Sandy Sanford of Roxbury accompanied Harry Jordan here on his Sunday visit.

Miss Catherine Roe entertained a group of young people at her home on Saturday evening.

Harlow McLean was among the group of 14 past noble grandes from Shokan I. O. O. F. who attended the district night at Gardiner.

Miss Ethel Roosa of New York city spent the week-end with her parents and sister, Elinor, at High Point Springs farm, West Shokan.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Trowbridge and family of Olive Bridge heights entertained a group of friends on Friday evening.

The community rural school opened Monday and teachers and children renewed their allotted tasks after Easter vacation.

Julius and Mrs. Fred Simpson of Accord called on Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Every at Traver Hollow on Sunday afternoon.

Cecil Gray, the busy Olive Bridge corner merchant, delivered a truck load to Donald Bishop Friday afternoon.

Police have been set for the new Central Hudson line over Sheldon Hill and Ramondville Heights vicinity. Wires are to be strung shortly and electric service made available at an early date.

A drop from $1.50 to $1 has been made effective at a minimum rate monthly service charge to electric current served along the West Shokan extension of the Central Hudson line.

Mr. and Mrs. James Morrison and family of Broedon were local callers Sunday afternoon.

Raymond Keller has left home for a week-end in a C.C.C. camp.

Mrs. Fannie Boice of Main street.

American Supplies are Held Adequate to Meet War Test

Officer Surveys Materials Needed

By LLOYD LEHRBAS.

Washington (AP).—Does the United States produce the raw "munitions" it would need if an enemy power got control of the sea lanes?

This question, vital to national defense, is answered in a report on raw materials and their relation to a conflict of any magnitude just compiled by Col. John A. Wagner, procurement expert of the war department's quartermaster corps.

"America's great power," Colonel Wagner reports, "is due not so much to victories on the battlefields, as to the possession of essential raw materials and the ability of her citizens to properly change these raw materials into articles of commerce."

Two Years Without Imports.

No other nation, Colonel Wagner finds, has the natural resources and industrial organization to carry on a war for two years without importing huge amounts of war supplies.

A detailed survey of strategic raw materials, essential to warfare, made by Wagner has convinced him that this country either has or could produce in an "extreme emergency," the things it needs for victory.

Where Materials Produced.

The list of materials, including their chief sources and the percentage produced in the United States, in the Quartermaster Review, shows:

Manganese (indispensable in steel manufacture): U. S. 29 per cent; Soviet Russia 58 per cent; Brazil 25 per cent; India 9.7 per cent; Gold Coast 8 per cent; Canada 6 per cent.

Wagner recommends that, in view of American utilization, being much greater than production here, a war supply should be built up.

Chromium (needed as an alloy in chemical manufacture and for armor plate, projectiles and gun carriages): U. S. none; Rhodesia 54 per cent; Cuba 15 per cent; Wagner recommends building up a war stock for emergency purposes, although it is expected this country would be able to secure Cuban supplies even in wartime.

Nickel (for nickel steels, heavy machinery and guns, armor plate): U. S. 2 per cent; Canada 90 per cent. Chief world's supply is only a few miles across American border in a friendly country, with no expectation of difficulty securing supplies.

Tungsten (necessary in toughening alloys and high speed cutting tools): U. S. 24 per cent; China 44.7 per cent; Great Britain 14 per cent. Production here, with substitution of molybdenum, sufficient.

Tin (for tetrachloride, important as a producer of gases and concentrating smoke in explosives): U. S. none; British Malaya 55 per cent; Great Britain 21 per cent. Wagner recommends building up a small war stock, chiefly for industrial contingency.

Human Bombs.

Merrill, Wis.—William Witte, 90 year old early Lincoln county settler, lighted a cigar. The match set fire to his beard. He died of burns four hours later.

Special Costume.

Delaware, O.—Student Actor David Crandell wore one arm in a sling when he appeared for the final act of "Twelfth Night" at Ohio Wesleyan University—but the audience thought it was part of his costume. Crandell broke his wrist earlier in the play during a realistic enactment of a rough and tumble fight.

Kilkeney Out of the Air.

Waukegan, Wis.—Two robins entertained family visitors on Sunday.

Charles H. Waldner of Hickory Hill called on Donald Bishop at West Shokan Heights Sunday afternoon.

Out of town guests were entertained at Maple Dell Farm over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Rosa W. Lynn of New York city were up over the week-end and at their Traver Hollow estate.

Snowy weather in April is not an entirely new innovation to this locality. Martin J. Every recalls vividly snowfall to the depth of 12 inches 49 years ago on April 18, 1887. Then to cap the climax came the famous March blizzard of 1888, the year following, of which he is surviving chronicler.

Mr. Morton Roe of West Shokan Heights had the misfortune to injure one of her fingers Saturday by catching it in a door.

William Colange has completed a drain ditch leading from the cellar of his Bushkill Inn property, extending to a considerable distance across the yard and beneath the roadway adjoining. Several workmen were employed at the job, including Reese Smith and Gene Every.

Judge and Mrs. Fred L. Waldner entertained week-end visitors from out of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McRoberts and daughter, Marilyn, have returned to New Jersey after visiting with her parents.

FIRST CHRISTIAN BROADCAST HEARD ON CHINESE RADIO

Hankow, China (AP).—Christianity has gone on the air over a government radio station here.

And missionaries recall that it was only nine years ago that the government here was proclaiming "the end of Christian teaching" in this country.

Dr. Ralph Mortenson of Minneapolis, Minn., is largely responsible for making it possible for the church to carry its message to China's radio audience for the first time. He made arrangements for his weekly broadcasts over the new and powerful Hankow station.

The programs are under the ausence, pending sufficient production of substitutes.

Antimony (for hardening lead in shotshell and charges, in bearing metals): U. S. none; China 79 per cent; Mexico 10 per cent. Substitutes, plus small deposits of low grade ores here which could be worked, sufficient.

Mercury (for ammunition and important manufacturing purposes): U. S. 40 per cent; Spain 30 per cent; Italy 22 per cent. American production, plus substitutes, sufficient.

Platinum (electrical and chemical industries, including manufacture of sulphuric and nitric acid, necessary in manufacture of explosives of all kinds): U. S. 5 per cent; Colombia 42.4 per cent; Great Britain 42 per cent; Germany 12.5 per cent. Substitutes, secondary recovery and possible imports from Colombia, sufficient.

Mica (insulation purposes): U. S. 26 per cent; India 50 per cent; Canada 10 per cent.

Nitrates (essential for explosives): U. S. 67.4 per cent; Chile 21.9 per cent.

Rubber (tires, insulation, rubber goods): U. S. none; Malay States 56 per cent. Large stocks and substitutes sufficient, but small war stock recommended when purchasable at low price.

Silk (parachutes and powder bags): U. S. none; Japan 83 per cent; China 16.2 per cent. Artificial substitutes, plus normal stock, sufficient.

Jute, Manila Fibre and Seal (rope, sandbags, wrapping purposes): U. S. none, all being produced in the Philippines, India, East Indies and Mexico. Numerous substitutes, including wire, cotton and flax, available.

Wool (uniforms): U. S. 55 per cent; Great Britain 10 per cent; China 8 per cent. Stocks and substitutes sufficient.

Coffee: U. S. none; Brazil 68.9 per cent; Colombia 18.7 per cent. If stocks are cut off from Brazil and Colombia the nation must use substitutes or go without.

Sugar: U. S. 17.6 per cent; Cuba 56.4 per cent; Hawaii 11.8 per cent; Puerto Rico 8.5 per cent; Philippines 7.9 per cent. Production, plus substitutes, including corn sugar, sufficient.

The United States produces no iodine, a vexatious (source of strychnine, opium or quinine, necessary medical supplies, which come from Indo-China, India, Chile, Great Britain, Turkey, Greece, the Netherlands and Japan. Small war stocks are recommended, since the only possible supply would be the production of iodine from California brines and help.

The United States is also dependent on imports, chiefly from Japan and tropical countries, for coconut shells (charcoal for gas masks) and camphor (manufacture of smokeless powder and photographic film) but acceptable synthetic substitutes would be available in an emergency.

Spray New to Stop Gall-Forming Aphids

Geneva, N. Y., April 21.—Pineapple-like growths appearing on spruce trees at this season of the year are indication of the presence of the spruce-gall aphid and require immediate action with the spraying pump if these unsightly growths are to be stopped, says Dr. F. L. Gambrell, entomologist at the State Experiment Station here.

A single application of a lime-sulphur spray or a nicotine spray made before the hatching part of April will usually give satisfactory control of this pest, he says.

The insect is commonly found on Norway spruce and occasionally on red, black, Engelmann and Colorado blue spruce, and its presence is easily detected by the pineapple-like enlargements or galls at the base of the new growth. These galls are produced by the feeding of the overwintering females and their young which also develop within these galls during the spring. It is explained.

Use Lime-sulphur or Nicotine.

Tests made at the Experiment Station show that this insect can be easily controlled if the treatment is timely and thorough. The period for the most effective application of insecticides extends from the middle to the latter part of April. For trees about the home grounds, a single application of commercial lime-sulphur diluted at the rate of 1 pint to a gallon of water, or of a mixture of 1 tablespoonful of nicotine and an ounce of laundry soap or soap chips to a gallon of water, will give good results. The nicotine spray should be applied on a warm, sunny day, and all spraying should be thorough enough to cover the branches completely out to the tips, particularly the under sides.

Nurserymen with large plantings will find that certain oil sprays can be used in the spring with comparative safety and will give good results. Details about these sprays and additional information on the spruce gall aphid and other insect pests of ornamentals may be obtained by addressing inquiries to the Experiment Station.

MODES OF THE MOMENT

Brightly hued
chiffon enlivens
dark straws.
Lana Marwin

Carrying on the vogue for bright color accents—this chiffon trimming on dark straws is very effective. A very harmonious color scheme can be worked out in one's costume by using one, two or three tones of chiffon softly folded and draped together.

This is the season for larger brimmed hats whether those brims turn up or down, for both are smart. Many versions of the Breton sailor still are with us, and the tailored turned down brim is chic.

Both of the models sketched above

In navy shantung Baku go well with the new tailored suits. The large Breton sailor (bottom), a youthful model, uses cerise chiffon for the folded sash that goes around its crown and through the hat at back to form the bandeau.

The other model with a turned down brim is mushroom effect also youthful, but worn equally well by the young matron, has a smart even crown line. It uses a combination of navy and chartreuse twisted chiffon for the crown trim, falling off at the sides in knotted ends.

PATTERN 5575

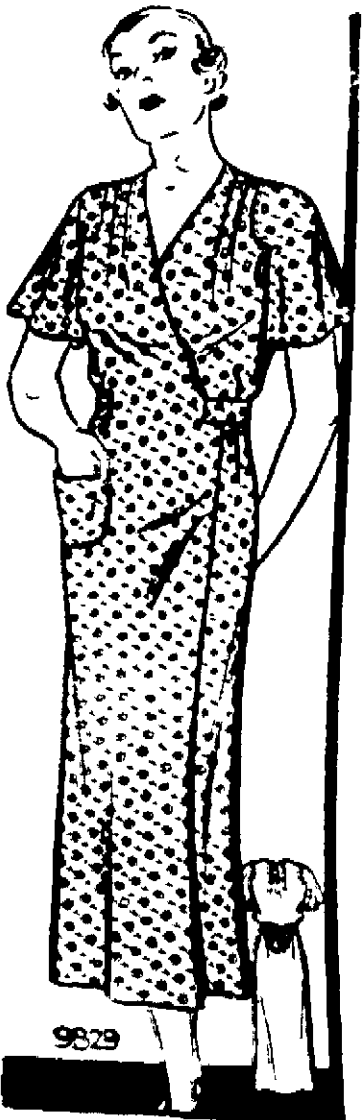

You're no idea how devastatingly chic you'll look in this crocheted "bowler" hat. And see how roomy—the matching bag? Both are quickly crocheted in gump, using a simple pattern stitch that's very "open air" and cool. And do add a dainty nosegay of crocheted posies!

In pattern 5575 you will find complete instructions for making the set shown; an illustration of it, and of all the stitches needed; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to the Kingston Daily Freeman Household Arts Dept., 259 W. 14th street, New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS and PATTERN NUMBER.

MAKE IT IN AN AFTERNOON. WEAR IT IN THE MORNING—SAYS MARIAN MARTIN

PATTERN 9829

If you're "larger than 42", you'll be the envy of your slimmer sisters, for Fashion's spotlight is no longer centered upon the smaller sizes when Marian Martin presents this very trim wrap-around for your busy mornings. You can slip into it without disturbing a hair of your well-combed head, tie the adjustable sash, hastily pat the convenient pocket and you are all ready for your morning duties. The nicely placed shoulder darts insure necessary bodice fullness and the loose sleeves afford lots of freedom. You can turn "Seamstress" and make this model in just a few hours. It is effective in a geometrically printed percale or other cottons; striped shirring or seersucker would be just as attractive. Complete Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart included.

Pattern 9829 may be ordered only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36 and 38. Size 26 requires 4 1/2 yards 26 inch fabric.

Send fifteen cents in coin or stamps (coin preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each pattern.

Home Institute POINTERS FROM THE STARS

What a cool, indifferent girl Nina is! Yet she's attractive to men. Just now she's driving Jerry into a rage by that undemonstrative air of hers.

Maybe he'd be less puzzled if he knew that Nina was born in the astrological House of Taurus, which rules from April 20 to May 20.

"Still waters run deep" is the rule for those born in that house. They are warm and human, strong and tenacious, but not very expressive. They show their affection in practical ways, but don't put it into words.

Steady and reliable are these Taurians, excellent managers, doiling parents, and far more domestic than romantic. In fact they should take care not to let their common sense drive romance out the window.

They'd best choose a life partner from the houses of Virgo (August 21—September 20) or Capricorn (December 21—January 20).

Intriguing, isn't it, to see what the stars have to say about you and your friends? It's always good fun at a party, and surprising how well "the shoe fits."

It is so easy to check up on your starry fate with the clear explanation provided in our 40-page illustrated booklet. So simply written that it's not too deep for you to grasp the fundamentals of this ancient lore. A handy size guide, crammed full of entertaining character sketches and gentle "cracks" at our human foibles.

STONE RIDGE

Stone Ridge, April 20—Daniel Froyland returned to New York on Sunday after spending several days with his family at Maple Gate.

The Rev. and Mrs. Robert J. Harrison of Poughquag were guests of several of their friends in this place during Conference week. The Rev. Mr. Harrison was a former pastor of the Stone Ridge M-E Church.

The Rev. and Mrs. Sidney Bradley of Fairland, Md. were overnight guests at the M. E. parsonage on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Peas have taken rooms with Mrs. Nellie Elston for a few weeks. Mr. Peas is canvassing this place for the American Agriculturist.

School in District No. 5 opened on Monday after enjoying a two weeks' vacation. Among those who attended divine worship in St. James Church on Sunday morning and heard Bishop Lester Smith were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ransom and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Weeks, Mr. and Mrs. John Pelen, the Misses Julia and Josephine Hasbrouck, Mrs. Nellie Elston, Mrs. Roscoe Strivings, Mrs. Anna Nilsson, Miss Carol Nilsson, Misses Della and Helen Clark, Miss Minna Von Bergen and Mrs. Ralph Sahler.

Mr. and Mrs. Finn Froyland and children, Audrey and Robert, of Brooklyn, were week-end guests of Mrs. Daniel Froyland. Mr. and Mrs. William Morehouse of New Jersey have been spending a few days at their summer home in this place.

The Rev. and Mrs. Hulst of Woodridge and former pastor of M. E. Church in this place were overnight guests of the Misses Julia and Josephine Hasbrouck on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Shroeder and family spent the week-end at this home in this place.

MENUS OF THE DAY

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE

Dinner Up-To-Date

(Spring Foods)

Menu Serves Four

Broiled Lamb Chops
Buttered Spinach
Creamed Onions
Bread—Cherry Conserve
Head Lettuce
 Roquefort Dressing
Strawberry Shortcake
Coffee

Creamed Onions
8 medium sized 1 1/2 cups milk
1 onion 1/2 cup sugar
3 tablespoons 1/4 teaspoon salt
butter 1/4 teaspoon
4 tablespoons paprika

Peel onions, cover four inches with cold water. Slowly bring to boil, drain and cover again with water. Add one-third teaspoon salt. Bring to boil and drain again. This removes surplus onion flavor. Cover four inches with water and boil until onions are tender—when tested with fork. Drain thoroughly. Melt butter, add flour and when mixed add milk and seasoning. Cook until thick sauce forms. Stir constantly. Add hot onions and serve immediately.

Roquefort Cheese Dressing
1 teaspoon salt 2 tablespoons
1 teaspoon pepper 2 tablespoons
1 teaspoon dry 1/4 cup sugar
sugar 1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon 1/4 cup sugar
onion juice 1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon celery 1/4 cup sugar

Crumble cheese with fork, add to rest of ingredients, combined. Beat with fork until blended. Chill mix and serve on salad. Store dressing in covered jar in refrigerator.

Strawberry Shortcake
(Electric Kettle)
1 1/2 cups flour 1/4 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar 1/4 cup butter
1/2 cup sugar 1/4 cup butter
1/2 cup sugar 1/4 cup butter

Mix flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in fat with knife. Mixing with knife add milk. When soft dough forms, divide into four pieces and pat out each piece with two-thirds inch thick. Bake 15 minutes on greased pan in moderate oven.

Reducing Has No Short-Cuts

Ithaca, N. Y., April 21—"Reducing has no safe shortcuts; it should be started only with your doctor's permission and followed by a diet adequate in everything except energy," says Hazel Hauck, assistant professor at the New York state college of home economics.

"To check any reducing diet, compare it with a normal diet. It should contain good quality proteins, as that in meat, milk, eggs, and fish, for growth and repair of body tissues. It should regularly include such foods as milk or cheddar cheese which supply lime to help maintain bones and teeth; also foods which contain iron for red blood cells such as lean meat, potatoes, whole cereals and green leafy vegetables. And last, the reducing diet should and will have a good supply of all the vitamins, if it contains milk and its products, fruits, vegetables, and eggs, which are called protective foods."

"Exercise, the kind recommended by the doctor, should also be a regular part of the reducing program. In general, exercises should be regular but not violent nor long enough to greatly increase the appetite or to lead to fatigue. Reducing by exercise alone is often difficult because so much exercise may be needed. For example a woman who weighs 150 pounds would have to walk seven miles a day to lose as much weight as she would by omitting about 500 calories, an amount equivalent to three medium slices of bread and three pats of butter, or to one piece of mince pie, or to one ice cream sundae.

No Nostrums
"Some overweight persons to whom dieting seems a bother and exercise a trial are prevailed upon to try false obesity 'cures'. Only occasionally no drugs have a rightful place in a reducing program and then only on a doctor's prescription," Miss Hauck says.

"Some reducing 'cures' are definitely harmful, and contain such substances as thyroid or dinitrophenol. They reduce body weight, but sometimes at the cost of health or even life. For some persons with an underactive thyroid gland, thyroid pills may be helpful, but they should never be taken except on the advice and under the care of a competent physician.

"The power of dinitrophenol to increase energy needs is a recent discovery, and the American Medical Association has not yet decided under what circumstances and in what doses it may properly be prescribed by a physician. However, this does not stop manufacturers of obesity cures. The Journal of the American Medical Association has recently listed 15 such preparations on the market. Many serious illnesses and some deaths have been traced to the use of this drug for reducing.

"The use of medicines containing cathartics is another unwise way to reduce. These substances hurry the food through the digestive tract and lessen its chances to be digested and absorbed, and menace health as much as the regular use of cathartics.

"Many other quick reducing remedies offered, although not harmful, do not in themselves bring loss of weight. They depend for success upon suggestions as to diet and exercise at the same time the 'remedy' is used."

'In danger?'

Rupert Joris repeated the words of the trembling girl before him.

She nodded quickly: "In terrible danger. If you've broken a law—"

What law could this soft-voiced girl have broken, he wondered. But Rupert did not wait for the answer to his unspoken question.

"Marry me now—tonight," he said, and Hope, who had never seen him before, accepted his strange proposal.

How would you like to knit on 420 needles?

YES . . . 420 all at once! That's the way your stockings are knit . . . on a whole row of tiny needles set up straight in a needle-bar like the teeth on a comb. If you're wearing a 45-gauge stocking, there were 45 needles to every 1 1/2 inches of stocking-width. That would make 420 needles, to knit the regulation width of stocking.

But alas! It is easy to cut off a few needles at each end of the needle-bar. That saves thread and money for the manufacturer. But it also makes the stocking skimpy. You don't actually see this difference in the store because after the dye-bath the stocking can be stretched and dried to look full-width. But when you try it on . . . too tight and short! Terrible!

For real stocking satisfaction, you want to buy them by the advertised brand name, or from a store where you regularly trade. Read the hosiery advertisements. Learn the names and the features of the various makes. Especially now that we're all wearing the sheerer grades and hoping they'll wear like service weights. Study the hosiery advertising and know your subject before you shop.

OFFICE CAT

By Junius

You have always heard of the wisdom of the "old heads." Are old people wiser than the young? Well, not always. A boy or girl of 20 has a lot more sense about marrying, for example, than has a man of 60.

Mother—James Elliphalet, what do you mean by teaching that parrot such bad words?

James Elliphalet—I was only teaching him what he mustn't say, madam.

The world does not give a tinker's darn for your troubles. It's tinkering with its own troubles.

Woman—My husband is the only man who ever kissed me.

Neighbor—Are you bragging or complaining?

Numerologists and star-gazers cannot tell what is in the future, why should you wrack your brain to find out?

Lawyer—All right. I'll take your case. I feel sure that I can get you justice.

Client—Why, you little nitwit, it ain't justice I want. You've got to get me off.

Grandpaw Hiram Stubblefield, of Brushville, says it wouldn't be so bad for the young folks to know everything if they just knew a few things worth while along with the other things.

Mary had a little dress, A dainty bit and airy; It didn't show the dirt a bit, But Gosh, how it showed Mary.

If we all had as much faith as we profess to have, this world would not have ten per cent of the troubles it has.

The Wind Changeth
"Nine old men" sat on a bench, Gave AAA a fearful wrench; But TWA won their approval, So don't look for their quick removal.

Sailor (on leave)—I'd like to try on that suit in the window.

Puzzled Clerk—I'm Navy Boater, mister, but I'm afraid the boss would be upset if you didn't use the regular dressing room.

Chicken Food
"We want a change!"—the holler to us at first seemed strange. Inflation took our dollar; Now all we have is—change.

A bride walked into a sea food market very recently:
Bride—I want some oysters.
Clerk—Large or small ones?
Bride—Oh, do they come in different sizes? I—I don't know how my husband likes them. Let me see (pondering). Oh, yes, he wears a No. 15 collar. Could you tell from that?

Parents advise their daughters to marry a man who knows how to save money but a young man trying to save his money these days has such keen competition from the young men who are making no effort to save their money that he doesn't get a chance at most of the girls.

Man—That man wants to borrow some money from me. Do you know him?

Friend—I know him as well as I know you. Don't lend him a cent.

The trouble with being a doctor is that so many diseases come along that haven't any symptoms that really show.

Business Man—Our George will be in the hospital a long time.

Partner—Why? Have you seen the doctor?

Business Man—No, but I have seen his nurse.

A smart man isn't fit for jury service. He wouldn't believe the evidence offered by either side.

THE IDEA OF GEORGE GIVING BARBARA A BLOODHOUND—COME AWAY DEAR—YOU DON'T KNOW WHAT HE MIGHT DO—

HE'S AS GENTLE AS A LAMB. DON'T BE AFRAID BARBARA—WATCH ME PET HIM—NICE OLD SCHMOZZLE!

RUN HEM... HE'S GOING FOR YOU... QUICK... INTO THE KITCHEN.

WHOA... BACK UP SCHMOZZLE... SIT DOWN LIKE A NICE DOGSIE.

GENTLE... AS A LION YOU MEAN...

LOOK HEM'S KISSING DADDY.

RARE PICTURE OF CHINA'S COMMUNIST LEADERS

This rare photograph showing the communist leaders of China, was found in a Chinese village recently evacuated by communist forces. The central figure of the group is Hsiao Hai, chairman of the communist government, and at his left is Hsiao Keh, commander of the communist army. Hsiao Keh's wife, a leader in the movement, is said to be in the picture (back row). (Associated Press Photo)

Freedom of Press Topic of Newsmen

New York, April 21 (AP)—A charge that freedom of the press was abridged in recent activities of two governmental agencies was a prime topic today among several hundred members of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, opening its annual convention.

The association, which will conclude its sessions through Friday, planned to go into the subject thoroughly, but scheduled a study of special problems of the small city newspapers today.

It was announced that Col Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, and chairman of the committee on freedom of the press, would make the official presentation of that subject on the convention floor.

The association already is on record with a pledge of aid to William Randolph Hearst, in his charge that newspaper freedom was violated by the Federal Communications Commission and the Senate Lobby Investigating Committee when they obtained copies of telegrams he had sent to an editorial writer.

It was announced last night that the following were re-elected directors of the Associated Press: W. H. Cowles, the Spokane-Spokane-Review; E. Lansing Ray, the St. Louis Globe Democrat; Robert R. McCormick, the Chicago Tribune; George B. Longan, the Kansas City Star; and L. K. Nicholson, the New Orleans Times Picayune.

Volckmann Jury Selection Goes On

Catskill, N. Y., April 21 (AP)—Nine husbands, all but two of whom are fathers, occupied the slowly filling jury box today at the trial of Alfred E. Volckmann, 20, Greenville butcher boy, for the murder of Helen Glenn, 9.

Three jurors were accepted yesterday. They are Joseph Barnes, 50, of Catskill, retired New York city fireman; Alsup Lane, 48, Lanesville chauffeur; and Wynan Kniffen, 45, New Baltimore laborer.

Only 24 of 200 veniremen, third panel summoned thus far since the trial opened last week, remained to be questioned. Justice Gilbert V. Schenck excused 122 of them shortly after their arrival in court yesterday.

Volckmann is accused by the state of slaying the little girl, daughter of the Rev. Ernest E. Glenn, of Greenville, last June. He played the violin at services in Mr. Glenn's church.

Mrs. Bertha P. Hall Dies in Florida

Mrs. Bertha Parker Hall of Esopus, wife of the late Rev. Charles Mercer Hall, formerly pastor of Holy Cross Church, Pine Grove avenue, Kingston, and a daughter of the late Judge Alton B. Parker, died Monday at Orlando, Fla., after a lingering illness.

Mrs. Hall went to the south to recuperate in February, and although her siege of illness had been long, her death was sudden. Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Theodore Oxholm of Rosemount, Esopus, one son, Alton Parker Hall of New York city and five grandchildren. The funeral will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. from the Church of the Ascension, West Park. Burial will be private in Wiltwyck cemetery, Kingston.

Roy Jacob Again in Charge of Gardens

Roy Jacob, who for the past summer or so has had supervisory charge of the municipal relief gardens on Fair street extension, has again been appointed supervisor of the project by the E.R.B. and those who plan to have municipal gardens on the lowlands this summer may apply to him at the grounds commencing Monday for the seed to be furnished. Those who plan to have home gardens as in other summers may obtain the seed at any time by calling at the E.R.B. headquarters on central Broadway.

MARKET FOR FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

New York, April 21 (AP)—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets.)

Vegetable receipts from Long Island and nearby producing sections were relatively light. Prices tended slightly upward on Broccoli Rab, Rape, Chicory, Dandelion greens and Rhubarb.

The market for old and new crop white potatoes was steady. Old crop round white potatoes U. S. No. 1 in 100 lb. sacks from upstate New York $2.25-2.30. Maine 100 lb. sacks Green Mountain potatoes U. S. No. 1 $2.50-2.60.

Supplies of New York state old crop white cabbage were light. Jobbing sales on 50 lb. sacks were reported at 40c-50c.

Old crop yellow onions supplies were moderate. New York 50 lb.

measured in feet—but that it might be hours before a hole was hacked through the last barrier of rock, separating the rescue crew from the 141-foot level.

Doctor Has Cold.
Physicians at the surface said Dr. Robertson was suffering from a cold, contracted during his long confinement in the damp underground prison, and that Scadding had "french feet," the malady once suffered by soldiers in France from exposure and moist ground.

The nine-day battle of the rescue crew against rock and earth persisted with no definite indication of how long the miners would have to burrow before breaking through to the 141-foot level.

Many times since Sunday, they had believed they were near their objective, but with no map of the old workings, they could only guess at best how close they were to the tomb.

For 24 hours the original rescue crew worked almost without ceasing. One after another, the men were added to the surface for brief spells, reentering the mine's blackness then to continue their gamble with the death that threatened every minute from the crumbling roof and walls of the three-foot shaft they were driving.

As fast as possible, miners behind them propped the shaft, tearing down outbuildings to obtain the necessary timber.

Finally the original crew reached the breaking point today. The rush call was sent out for reinforcements, and the eight fresh men hastened from Goldenville.

Wife In Waiting.
Throughout the night, Dr. Robertson had kept in communication with the mine head where his wife waited, dreading that she might finally receive the same word that sent Mrs. Magill, brokenhearted, back to her two small children in Toronto.

"How long?" was the question which came repeatedly over the telephone wire dropped to the two men through the two-inch hole that had been bored down to their level.

The answer depended on what new obstacles the underground workers might meet in the last few feet, and on the ability of the engineers to judge direction in the mine that had been abandoned for long before the Toronto men purchased it.

In a dramatic conversation with his brother-in-law, Ivey, Dr. Robertson described the terrible experience of April 12 when "the whole roof fell in."

"There were heavy crashes and another rush of air," Dr. Robertson said.

"After another hour it all crashed down. For a while we made no more movements. We were caught in there. It slipped away to the next level. The shaft above the level was quite clear up 132 feet. A big log fell across the timber. The whole roof fell in."

Note of Hysteria.
Dr. Robertson, a note of hysteria creeping into his voice, expressed fear during the night that the rescuers had lost their direction.

"Ask them to make a noise," he called over the telephone, seeking positive assurance that the relief which had been promised him so often was near and certain.

"We can't hear them drilling now," he complained. "We could hear them drilling in the shaft before."

At that time the miners were tearing out soft earth with their hands in their frantic efforts to clear the last barrier.

"He thinks we are lying to him," Ivey told companions.

Although Dr. Robertson had weaker moments, when he doubted that rescue really was near, he emphasized at other times that he and Scadding were maintaining their self control.

Despite the ordeal of eight days of blackness and the starvation which was relieved only Sunday, the doctor said:

"We won't lose our heads."

Men Are Fed.
The men were fed soup, cocoa and coffee Sunday and were given medical supplies, lowered through a tube which was inserted in the diamond-drilled hole, but yesterday they had been unable to walk through water in the shaft to approach the tube.

After their eight days of imprisonment in the cold, pitch-black cavern, Dr. Robertson and Scadding were believed to be suffering from hallucinations at times while calling anxiously for their promised relief.

Talking too often for a man ordered to conserve his strength, Scadding, the mine time-keeper, shouted wildly in his conversations with those at the surface end of the communication line extending to the level where the men were trapped.

Dr. Robertson, a distinguished Toronto surgeon who purchased a part interest in the mine three months ago, gave assurance, however, that he would try not to "lose his head."

Radium Is Offered.
Toronto, April 21 (AP)—Dr. G. E. Richards of the Toronto General Hospital today offered a supply of radium to assist rescue workers in their efforts to reach his colleague, Dr. D. E. Robertson, trapped deep in the Moose River gold mine.

Dr. Richards said a tiny supply of radium, which would be furnished by the hospital, could be lowered through the pipe leading to the 141-foot level where Dr. Robertson and Charles Alfred Scadding are imprisoned.

The hospital also stood ready, he said, to supply the rescue miners with equipment for locating the radium's presence, thereby enabling the miners to direct their tunneling accurately toward the living tomb.

Ontario government officials were advised immediately of the offer.

Real Marital Tangle.
Kenton, O., April 21 (AP)—Brothers became father and son today as marriage performed a strange mix-up in blood relationships. John Lightner, Jr., 34, was married to Mrs. Opal Shields, 33, and his 25-year-old brother, Andrew Lightner, became his son by marrying Mrs. Shields' 20-year-old daughter, Laverne Shields. The marriage made the former Mrs. Shields and her daughter sister-in-law, and introduced the possibility of a new tangle of relationships if both couples have children.

Seeks 4 Indictments.
Brooklyn, N. Y., April 21 (AP)—District Attorney William F. X. Goehman went before a special Kings county grand jury today seeking at least four indictments for kidnapping in the case of Paul H. Wendel, disbarred Trenton attorney. Goehman declined to say who would be named in the indictments. He indicated that the real purpose in seeking them was to be prepared for extradition measures.

Toys Indicate Peace.
New York, April 21 (AP)—If the 1936 American toy fair is any indication, America is interested mainly in peace, building projects and junior games. Of 50,000 toys on display at the fair, only 1 per cent were found today to deal with war and defense of the law.

Chicken Supply.
A chicken supply will be sorted in Holy Cross Parish House, Pine Grove avenue, Wednesday, starting at 2 p. m. The menu: Chicken, mashed potatoes, green beans, butter, cabbage salad, water, tea and coffee. The patronage of the public is solicited.

St. Joseph's Minstrel A Hit Last Night

The minstrel presented by the Holy Name in St. Joseph's School Hall, under the direction of Frank Oulton, well known Kingston showman, Monday night was enjoyed by a capacity audience, which was generous with applause for the performers who had a wealth of fine jokes, songs, dances and other features of entertainment.

Tonight the minstrel will be presented again, with a dance afterwards. Bill Smith's Society orchestra accompanies the show and plays for the dance. Starting time of the minstrel is 8:15 sharp, and those desiring front seats are advised to be on hand early.

Those taking part in the show, which is one of the best amateur minstrel acts ever put on, are a credit to Director Oulton, are Tony Erena, Phil Sial, Frank Reis, Andy McCauley, Bill Leehive, Charles Reis and John Ernie and John Jallal, end men; Dr. Robert Bruce Whelan, John Lonk, Arthur Madden, William Raible, Joseph Saccuman, and John Cullum, soloists. Attorney Matthew V. Cahill is the interlocutor.

In the olio are Billy Smith, tap dancer; Joseph Vikna, accordionist; Bobby Craft, juvenile cornetist, and the "Home Town Boys"—Dennis Fennelly, Harry La Mothe, John Coffey, and Matt Cahill. The second part features a skit, "Down on the Levee" with John Pallis, Andy McCauley, Charles Reis, Bill Leehive, Buddy Oulton and Mickey Ward.

The technicians are L. P. Fennelly, stage manager, Joseph McAuliffe and Walter Robinson, assistants.

WICKS MOVES TO GET HILLS OUT OF COMMITTEE

Albany, April 21 (Special)—Senator Arthur J. Wicks moved last night to have two measures sponsored by him reported out of committee.

One gives the right to a mayor of a city to appoint an official referee to a non-salaried position in the state education system. This official would then be allowed to fill vacancies by appointment existing in public schools.

The other Wicks act is to make weighing of "bootleg" coal mandatory by the retailer. Now, the Senator pointed out, persons may purchase coal and not be sure of getting the amount stated by the dealer.

The expression "bootleg" coal is believed to have come about during the days of N.R.A. at which time coal was actually bootlegged to avoid certain regulations but the expression and practice have both continued.

Katrine Home Department.
The Lake Katrine Home Department will hold an all day quilting, Wednesday, at the home of Mrs. Florence Winchell, Lake Katrine.

Men's Club Elections.
There will be an annual election of officers of the Men's Club of the Wurts Street Baptist Church at 7:30 o'clock tonight. A social hour will follow.

Selecting Jurors In Gonzalez Case

In county court this morning the selection of a jury in the Gonzalez robbery case was resumed. Four jurors were selected Monday afternoon but from among the first half dozen examined this morning none were acceptable to counsel. In all probabilities the entire day will be consumed in the examination of the jurors now in attendance and indications are that an extra panel will have to be drawn in order to fill the box.

Prudencio Gonzalez was arrested and returned to the Ulster county jail on June 15 last and Jose Gonzalez was arrested and brought to jail on June 25. Since that time the two have been in jail awaiting trial. At the last term of county court the case was moved over due to the absence of material witnesses and at that time it was agreed to try the case at this term.

120 Persons Hurt In Jew-Arab Riots

Jerusalem, April 21 (AP)—Violent outbreaks between Jews and Arabs at Tel-Aviv and nearby towns continued today, bringing the total of injured to 120 in three days of disorder, the Jewish telegraphic agency reported today.

Sixteen Jews and four Arabs have been killed.

High Commissioner Sir Arthur Grenfell Wauchoppe proclaimed his determination to suppress all outbreaks.

Most of the new injuries were reported by the Hadassah Hospital at Tel-Aviv, the all-Jewish center of worst disorder.

Transportation throughout the country was described as "perilous." An American tourist, Ely Bramson, of Chicago, had his car stoned by pursuing Arabs while driving in the Emek Valley of Palestine. One of five persons with Bramson was injured slightly by a stone.

Hearing Adjourned.
The hearing scheduled for Wednesday before the Woodstock-Saugerties road condemnation commission has been adjourned until May 21 at the request of County Attorney Roscoe V. Elsworth because of the illness of a witness. The commission has consented to the postponement of the hearing.

Cashin Recovers Sum Of $1,500 for City

Corporation Counsel Records Show That Amount Obtained From Estate of Woman Who Had Been Getting Old Age Pension While She Had $5,000 in Bank.

The records in the office of a corporation counsel of a city are not all old and musty and every once in a while it is possible for a reporter to dig up an interesting story from the records. A case in point is that of the recovery of $1,500 from the estate of a woman who had been receiving an old age pension while she had $5,000 in the bank.

From the record in the office of Corporation Counsel John M. Cashin it develops that back in 1904 or 1905, an application was made by the relative of a certain woman to obtain for her an old age pension. The grant was made and the woman, on her relative's regularly received the monthly pension checks.

As the months rolled by an investigator stumbled over the fact that this woman who was receiving an old age pension during her lifetime had died leaving an estate of approximately $5,000 in the bank in ready cash. The matter was brought to the attention of Attorney Cashin.

Before any court action was taken Mr. Cashin interviewed one of the relatives of the deceased, who was the principal recipient of the $5,000 cash money. The relative was informed that unless restitution in the sum of $1,500 was made to the city, which was the amount of the pension checks that had been paid out by the city, that legal action and resultant unpleasant notoriety would ensue.

As a result no court action was taken as the $1,500 was paid over to the corporation counsel at once.

B. T. W. FOREMAN MET WITH MAYOR HEISELMAN MONDAY

Mayor C. J. Heiselman called a meeting of the foremen of the Board of Public Works Monday afternoon to meet in his office at the city hall with J. Richard Miller, the city's compensation attorney, to discuss the application of first aid methods on local jobs in an effort to cut down the number of accidents among the employees of the board.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE E. JACQUES

New York, April 21 (AP)—After coming back moderately in early dealings today, stock market leaders were subjected to a late afternoon selling push that brought losses of 1 to 3 or more points.

In the rather feeble rallies of the morning trading was relatively dull, but the pace quickened on the decline.

Among the principal losers were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Columbian Carbon, Allied Chemical, Case, Santa Fe, Lackawanna, Northern Pacific, Western Union, Anaconda, Kennecott and Consolidated Edison. Checker Cab was off 14 points at one time on a few sales. The split-up stocks of Air Reduction yielded 1.

The few gainers included American Telephone, John-Manville, Douglas Aircraft, American Can, Dome and McIntyre Porcupine. The late tone was heavy. Transfers approximated 2,200,000 shares.

C. Lloyd Fisher to Speak in Highland

Hauptmann Lawyer to Address the Lions Club on May 4—Announcement Made at Meeting Monday Evening

C. Lloyd Fisher, counsel for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, executed slayer of the Lindbergh baby, will be guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Highland Lions Club on May 4. It was made known as Monday evening's meeting by Dr. Victor Salvatore, president of the club.

All Lions of this section of the Hudson Valley have been invited to make reservations for the meeting. The announcement was made at a meeting attended by delegations from Newburgh and Poughkeepsie and other clubs of this section.

Robert Jamieson of Newburgh, deputy district governor, praised the work that the Poughkeepsie club is doing to help the blind and those in need of glasses. He congratulated Poughkeepsie on its work as a service club in supplying three pairs of glasses a week to needy persons.

He urged other clubs represented at the meeting to follow the example set by Poughkeepsie.

Other speakers included Secretary Rieher of the Rhinebeck Club, final plans for the organization of which will be made tomorrow night; William Cochran, president of the Newburgh Club, and John E. Harrison, Poughkeepsie president.

The Highland Fife and Cornet Corps started through the streets prior to the meeting and assisted in the initiation of three new members of the club. Walter S. Clarke is leader of the corps.

16 Softball Teams Are Listed In 3A Leagues

Managers of 16 softball teams got together at the Y. M. C. A. last night under the auspices of the Kingston Amateur Athletic Association and officially closed the entries for the League Softball. President H. L. Winter presided and Warren F. Smith recorded the following teams in a two league set-up. In the Open League were Cordis Hoes, Altamari Aces, C. & R. Hoes Co., Studia, Appleknockers, Colonials, Battery A, Chevrolet, Royal Arcanum and A. D. Rose. The Industrial League will contain the teams of the Telephone Co., Cent. Hudson, Board of Public Works, Fuller, Shirt, Montgomery Ward & Co. and Headquarters Battery.

Officers were elected in both leagues. Open League: James Doyle, president; Art Kaplan, secretary; and Herb Van Deusen of Protest Board. In the Industrial League Mr. Dederick of B. P. W. was elected president; Ben Short, last year's president, was elected secretary; Mr. Diederick of Montgomery Ward, was elected to Protest Board.

Games will be scheduled to start on or about May 4, on the several diamonds now being conditioned for the league. Umpires will be chosen from names furnished by team managers to pilot the games through the season.

The next meeting of the league will be Wednesday, April 23, at the Y. M. C. A., when Secretary Smith will have the scheduled ready and the playing roster on hand to be submitted to the different teams to prevent duplication and confusion after the league starts.

Baer Studios Will Give Recital April 26

Sunday, April 26, is the date of the first of a series of recitals to be given in the music room of the Governor Clinton Hotel by the pupils of the Roger Baer Studios. Starting time is 4 o'clock.

Twenty-nine students will participate in the recital, most of them making their first public appearance, and much work has been done to fit them for their recital.

Assisting Mr. Baer in his training of the students is Mrs. Baer and Miss Lucy Jones and the parents of the little musicians who are expected to be heard by a large assemblage of music lovers. Manager Gross of the hotel is arranging for the seating and decorative scheme.

To Sell Glisco Property County Judge Frederick G. Traver has signed an order granting permission for the trustees of The Church of St. Mary of Saurteries to sell a parcel of land owned by the church at Glisco. The parcel which the court has authorized sold on application of the trustees of the church is the former St. Joseph's church property at Glisco which has been abandoned for church use. The consideration is $200. Frank Can-pochiaro is attorney for the church.

Union College Glee Club Concert Here Was Largely Attended

The concert given by Prof. Elmer A. Tidmarsh, organist, and the Union College Glee Club of which he was the conductor, with Raoul Nadeau, soloist, under the auspices of the Men's Club of the Fair Street Reformed Church at the Church last evening, was largely attended by an appreciative audience.

The Union College Glee Club gave decidedly the best program from the viewpoint of selections and rendition of any that this College Glee Club has given here. The balance of parts was unusually good; the tonality was also good, and all the numbers were sung in good taste, according to their subject matter and with musicianship. The singing of the first three numbers, all Negro Spirituals, was especially effective calling forth much and well merited applause. They sang, "Ezekiel Saw De Wheel," "Standin' in de Need of Prayer," "Wade in de Water;" and "Steal Away."

Prof. Tidmarsh prefaced his organ solos with a remarkable verbal interpretation of his own of John Sebastian Bach's three works, "We Thank Thee God;" "Trio in E Flat Major;" and "Toccata in Fugue in D Minor," all of which were accorded hearty applause.

Later he gave a second group of Franz Liszt's beautiful "Liebestraum;" "Fraelindum" by Armas Jarnfelt, that showed the modern trend in organ composition and finally "Toccata from the Fifth Symphony" by Charles Widor, under whom Mr. Tidmarsh had studied in Paris. In response to the continuing applause, Mr. Tidmarsh asked to have the lights lowered while he played an organ arrangement of Schumann's "Evening." This too received hearty applause.

Raoul Nadeau, who has grown increasingly temperamental, since last Kingston appearance, had chosen for his first group of songs three French compositions. His French background makes it possible for him to sing French songs with particular facility of language. He was admirably accompanied by the piano by Mrs. Nadeau. The first group of songs he sang included, "Je T'Aime" by Massenet; "Beau Soir" by Debussy and Aria; "Peu-messe de mon Avenir" (from Le Roi de Lahore) also by Massenet.

He was heartily applauded. Mr. Nadeau's second group of songs, were, after all the more enjoyed and the beauty of his voice was much more pronounced. He sang "Can't you Dance the Polka," a modern song by Sprackling; "Love Me or Not" by Sechelt; and "Down the River" by the modern composer, MacGimsey. For encore numbers he sang "Angel Cake," a humorous little song, and "The Eagle," by Puach, which he said was one of his favorites and was one of the finest songs that he sang.

The College Glee Club was greeted with enthusiasm after each of their songs in their second and last groups. Their diction was noteworthy for without clear diction, much of the enjoyment of the songs would have been lost. Also they did some exquisite pianissimo singing.

Everyone enjoys the jolly "Cornish Fiddler's Song," a Cornish Folk Song and "Come one, Come all," a Czechoslovakian Folk Song both unusual. In "Water Boy," (Negro Work Song), the solo part was sung by Mr. Nadeau.

The last song of this group was "Down Among the Dead Men," an English Folk Song by V. Williams, and that, too was well sung.

They brought the concert to a close with the singing of a fine modern song, "Marching Along on the Highway," by Tachakowsky-McMillan; followed by a beautiful and unusual song, very well sung, "All in the April Evening," by Rachmaninoff. So enthusiastic was the applause that the boys very generously sang as encore a song appreciated by all; "By the Light of the Moon."

Gaddis-Ashdown

Announcement has been made of the marriage on April 13, of Miss Marie Ashdown of Albany avenue extension and Myron J. Gaddis, by the Rev. Edmund Burke of St. Joseph's Church. They were attended by George L. Chilson and Helen M. Ashdown. The groom is a resident of Flushing, L. I., where the couple are making their home.

Happy-Reed

The marriage of Miss Eleanor Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Reed of Whitman, Mass., and Kenneth F. Happy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Happy of Kingston, took place Friday afternoon, April 17, at the home of the bride's parents. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Johnston, brother-in-law and sister of the bride. The bride was attired in a blue traveling suit and wore a corsage of gardenias. Immediately after the ceremony a reception was tendered. The rooms were decorated prettily with jonquills and forsythia, and the guests were members of the immediate families. Mr. and Mrs. Happy left for a trip to Washington and will be at home after April 27, at 27 Mechanic street, North Easton, where the bridegroom is engaged in business. The bride is employed by the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

Clarence A. Johnson Elected District School Official

Clarence A. Johnson, principal of the Glisco public school, was elected district superintendent of the First Supervisory District, at the election held today. There were three candidates in the field. On the first ballot Mr. Johnson received four votes, George E. Coons a teacher at Hightstown, N. J., received four votes and Raphael Klein received two votes.

Mr. Coons formerly taught at the Flatbush school. On the second ballot Mr. Klein, teacher at the Ulster Park public school, dropped from the election and the two surviving candidates received five votes each.

The question of residence was brought up by the directors and Mr. Coons was invited into the room where the vote was being taken. He was asked to explain his residence which he claimed to be Saugerties, although he was teaching at New Jersey, and during his appearance before the board he was seized with a faint spell and fell. Another vote was taken and the result was still a tie and it was suggested that an adjournment be taken but someone suggested another vote. The result was a 6 to 4 victory for Mr. Johnson.

Mr. Johnson succeeds Miss Emily S. Burnett who was not a candidate. In the Third Supervisors' District election was held in Wayside Inn, Ellenville. The ballot resulted in a tie vote between J. Hartley Tanner, the present incumbent, and Lester Roosa of Stone Ridge who is now teaching at Tarrytown. The balloting stood 4 and 4.

Later it was reported the tie would not be broken today.

Complete List of Appointments at the New York Conference

The 137th annual session of the New York Conference, called to order at two o'clock Wednesday of last week, officially adjourned about 3:20 Monday afternoon, but it was not four o'clock when Bishop H. Lester Smith, who had presided so capably during the days of crowded business, finished reading the list of appointments and the ministers left for home to take up the work of their various charges for another year.

The Conference did an immense amount of work during the five days it was in session, but at that there was not time to fully thresh out many of the perplexing and debatable questions that were brought before it. During it all, however, a harmonious spirit prevailed and even during debates upon the highly controversial reports dealing with social and economic conditions—subjects which, finally, were put over for further action at the 1937 Conference—very little that touched upon the acrimonious was in evidence.

Favor Unification Plan

The subject of unification of the three leading branches of Methodism—the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and the Methodist Protestant Church—which is to come up again for action before the General Conference of the Church to be held in Columbus, Ohio, in May, was brought up during the last hour of the present Conference. The Rev. J. J. Henry understood that the question had been acted upon by the New York Conference at a former annual session, but in order that there might not be any question as to the status of the New York Conference, he moved that the Conference go on record as heartily in favor of the unification of the three churches under the plan as proposed. The motion was unanimously carried and the act was ordered put in the form of a memorial to the General Conference.

Mr. Henry's motion that the General Conference Committee on the Episcopacy recommend to the Conference that Bishop Francis J. McConnell, resident bishop of the New York Area, be returned to the New York Area for another four years, was adopted without dissent.

Considerable other business was transacted during the closing session, which began at two o'clock Monday afternoon.

W. H. Austin, statistician and C. W. Smith, treasurer, were re-elected. The reports of R. M. Houston, Conference auditor, and of the committee on the American Bible Society, were received and approved.

To Sell Church Properties

On motion of the Rev. Joseph W. Chassey, superintendent of the Kingston District, authority was given to dispose of the church property at Vega, which was reported to be in an abandoned condition, any proceeds of the sale to be given to the Roxbury Church. Similar action was taken with regard to the church at Elmira. Schoolhouse county, which was reported to be in ruins, with no legal trustee remaining. Proceeds of the sale of this property will go to the church at East Jefferson.

On motion of the Rev. P. C. Weyant, superintendent of the Newburgh District, the sale of the church property at Stalker, Pa., was ratified.

Dr. Tipple noted that at the Conference last year a committee had been named to report on what should be done with properties of this kind. Chester A. Smith of Peekskill had prepared a report, but the report had been mislaid and had not been presented. In response to a query by the Bishop Dr. Tipple said that the action in regard to the properties under discussion was in line with the recommendations made in the report.

White Plains Anniversary

The Rev. Philip S. Watters announced that next year would be the 150th anniversary of the church at White Plains, and he extended to the Conference an invitation to meet at White Plains next year. Bishop Smith thanked Mr. Watters for the invitation and referred it to the Bureau on Conference Sessions.

The Rev. J. J. Henry stated that he had a number of memorials which had come down from other annual conferences and which were to be presented to the General Conference but at the hour was late he moved that they be laid on the table. His motion was adopted. Bishop Smith noting that action by the New York Conference on these memorials was not necessary as they would go to the General Conference on the action of the annual conferences in which they originated.

he. "You cannot fix your eyes upon the things right in front of you and still have peace, power and power." His advice was "In the midst of things that are distracting, disturbing and unhappy," do as Moses did, look beyond them, see the One who is invisible. He illustrated his point by relating an experience when climbing in the Himalayas, surrounded by dense clouds that hid even nearby objects—then he and his companions got above the cloud banks and a wonderful view spread before them, with some 300 miles of towering snow-capped mountains encircling them and the majestic Mount Everest rising above them all.

"Life," said the speaker, "must have three dimensions—it must have thickness as well as length and breadth." He said that it took hundreds of years before artists learned to put the third dimension into their pictures, to indicate depth and proper perspective. Bishop Smith said that God, the things of the spirit, are the third dimension in living. "Connect your duties here with the heights; live humble, ordinary lives in the light of the good God," he said, adding that the important thing was that "men and women shall be able to live above their circumstances," to recognize that many distinctions here are not fundamental.

The Appointments

Before dismissing the Conference Bishop Smith read the appointments for the coming year. Comparatively few changes were made in the various pastorates. Following is the complete list of appointments for the four districts of the New York Conference, including the special appointments:

By LOUIS H. COOK

BISMARCK, N. D.—How North Dakota farmers were browbeaten and subjected to a program of extortion and intimidation by bureaucratic authority, following the alleged drought relief program of 1934 is a chapter of the New Deal which heretofore has received little attention outside the limits of this state.

In 1934 the federal government purchased 100,000 head of cattle in North Dakota the purchases being justified by a drought emergency and feed shortage which were supposed to have existed in the state. It was later evident that feed in tremendous quantities was available, and hundreds of thousands of tons stacked at the railroad stations were never utilized, despite the fact that the government incurred losses of many millions of dollars on them.

The cattle purchase program and the feeding fiasco were followed by another development which proved even more puzzling and exasperating to the farmers. When the cattle were purchased in 1934, large numbers were retained in the state of North Dakota, and were turned over by the Federal Surplus Relief Administration to the North Dakota Rural Rehabilitation corporation to be used for relief purposes, or otherwise disposed of. Many farmers were on relief, and in order to assure them a supply of milk and dairy products, they were assigned or permitted to retain animals which had been bought by the government. In addition, many of the cattle were assigned to farmers as subsistence animals. The general understanding was that they were to be cared for, and later might be purchased by the farmers who took care of them.

The program worked pretty well for awhile. There was no trouble until early in the summer of 1935 when representatives of the various agencies involved began to check up.

Appraisals Are Inflated.

None of these cattle had cost the government more than $20. Most of them were cows; some of them very good ones. It was a practical form good cattle stay in the country to improve herds by letting farmers keep them if they are able to feed them, subject to purchase by the farmer.

Farmers Pay Double Prices.

"The government kills about 400 cattle to feed people on relief in Dickinson alone, of which I have accurate knowledge. They shot around 100 head which were not fit for use."

"The government says farmers can buy cattle, but at double the prices they were bought, after the farmer has fed and cared for them out of his own pockets. I am not and a good many others with cattle are not, and have never been, on relief.

"It is not quite clear to me, under these circumstances, just what the government's idea of rehabilitation is. I appeal to you, as a man of sound judgment, in this way to help the farmer?"

Braun, however, was relatively tame in his squawk. Many of the others were louder. Here is one typical letter received by North Dakota (Congressmen from their constituents:

Cleveland, N. D., Sept. 12, 1935. Senator Wm. Lemke, Washington, D. C.

"I am writing you to benefit of

And here is another letter: Scranton, N. Dak., Oct. 6, 1935. Wm. Lemke, Bismarck, N. Dak.

"I would like to have you write me as to paying for the subsistence cow I have. The government paid $20 for the cow they asked me to pay $60. I have a little girl that is not well so she has to have milk. I signed a note for $50, paid $10 down and am to pay $5 per month. Isn't this some way for the government to help the poor? They give the farmer $20 for a cow, ask a poor relief worker to pay $60 for the same cow. I have hardly enough to eat, and half enough clothes to wear. Would appreciate very much if you would write and let me know what to do about this."

But complaints to Washington didn't help much. After conference with FERA officials the congressmen informed their constituents that they didn't have to pay the prices appraised, but should be permitted to retain the cattle at the original price, less 6 per cent later cost. Washington, however, didn't seem to have much influence with their North Dakota agencies.

Up at Willrose, in the extreme northwestern corner of the state, right up against the Canadian border, lives a farmer who has gotten no crop for a couple of years, and was on relief. One of his neighbors had a subsistence cow and was instructed to pay for it, or turn it back, so the two went to see about it. What happened is told in a letter to Congressman Lemke:

"Hop Lemke: I am about to write you in regard to the cow situation in my territory, which you already know something about. It turned out to be a hard blow for me and a couple of others, although I am innocent. I've got to suffer for it if nothing can be done. I'm therefore writing you in hopes you can do something about it.

"Ten days or so ago my neighbor was ordered into Crookby by Mr. Hanson, who is in charge of the cattle. At his wish I accompanied him into town. We had to see Mr. Hommes, the lawyer. This is what he told us:

Farmers Suffer in Cow Deal.

"You had no business to take the cow back, and unless you bring the cow back to the one that bought it you will be taken off relief, further more you had no business to listen to Lemke, Burdick and Frazier. In other words, he meant our Congressmen didn't know what they were talking about, but instead had got us into a serious matter, indicating everything would be all right if the cow was brought back. My neighbor asked me what to do, so I told him if he'd take the cow back he'd be kicked and also that Mr. Hommes would win his victory and prove you congressmen were in the wrong. Mr. Hommes also said that the cow could not be sold for $20 plus six per cent interest, as Mr. Lemke stated. That way the farmer would make a profit, therefore they're charging $49 for this cow so the farmer would get no profit.

"The result of it was today we were both taken off relief until the cow is brought back. That makes a rather tough situation in this drought stricken area, where we have no money or means of getting money. Please let me know as soon as possible what you have power to do in regard to this deal. Advise us whether we have to take the cow back, or not, in order to get relief. I myself would rather starve than give in to Hommes."

Professor Tugwell Acts.

Lemke proceeded to do some complaining at Washington. The matter finally got to the attention of Rexford G. Tugwell. The letter Mr. Tugwell wrote appears in fac simile as part of this article.

Thus Prof. Tugwell relieved him self of all responsibility. As he put it "The Administration has pursued a course which has seemed entirely logical."

Most North Dakota farmers today are nothing logical at all about what has happened to them. Their cattle were bought, under the guise of drought relief, at low prices many of them were held until the following spring, and sold back to the original owners at double and in some cases triple the price which had been paid only a few months before.

Hay and straw which should have increased most of the cattle's value, were shipped in by train loads, and then not made available even to farmers who had cattle. When such feed was available it was purchased by the government at a high handed bureaucratic price, and was then being taken off relief. This may have been an entirely logical procedure to Prof. Tugwell, but the farmers affected just can't get his line of reasoning.

Young Republicans to Meet at Jamestown

The annual meeting of the Association of New York State Young Republican Clubs will be held at Jamestown, N. Y., May 15 and 16.

Walter J. Mahoney is president of the Association. The convention committee of the Chautauque County Young Republican Club is making extensive plans for the accommodation and entertainment of the delegates to this presidential year convention. There will be a banquet and ball on Friday night and on Saturday a boat ride, outing and barbecue dinner, with informal entertainment at Bemus Point, Chautauque Lake.

Among those from Ulster county who expect to attend the convention are Fred Stank, president of the Ulster County Young Republican Club and governor of the third department in the state Association. Andrew Ferguson, Kingston Young Republican leader, and assistant vice-president for the third department; Ben Slutsky, governor for Ulster county and Mrs. Haviland of Highland, co-governor.

It is understood that the Ulster county delegates will extend an invitation to the association to hold its next convention in Kingston.

The A's and Browns Break Losing Streaks, Downing Yanks and Tigers

By ANDY CLARKE

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Philadelphia Athletics and the St. Louis Browns, American League underdogs, snapped out of their lethargy, yesterday, to win for the first time this season.

The Athletics, displaying artillery reminiscent of a better day, downed the New York Yankees 12-11 yesterday while the Browns defeated the champion Detroit Tigers 9-6, beating Tommy Bridges and Schoolboy Rowe from the box in the process.

These uprisings were the prime features of a day on which the Pittsburgh Pirates at last ended the jinx that Roy Henshaw held over them and Dizzy Dean, although touched for nine hits, recorded his first victory of the season.

It took a pinch single by Loville (Chubby) Dean with the bases loaded in the ninth to bring the victory smile to the lean features of Connie Mack. The A's hammered Walter Brown and Bump Hadley for 14 hits but were hard-put to outscore the Yanks who whacked 10 dingles off the slants of Doyle and Tuberville.

Lucky Seventh

The Browns were trailing 4-0 going into the seventh inning when they opened the siege that resulted in a total of nine runs in two frames.

Tommy Bridges retreated to the showers under that seventh inning leading but Schoolboy Rowe, who has pitched the only two games the Tigers have won thus far, suffered a similar fate in the eighth.

A mighty home run clout by Gus Suhr, captain and first baseman of the Pirates, was necessary to banish the jinx that has seen Henshaw win seven straight games against the Pirates.

Suhr's homer, the fourth of the game came with two aboard and two out in the last half of the ninth and gave the Pirates a 9-8 margin over the Cubs.

Lavagetto, Pep Young and Chuck Klein also hit for the circuit.

Frisch Starts Rally

The Cards scored five runs against the Cincinnati Reds in a ninth inning rally that was started by Manager Frankie Frisch when he belted a double to send home three runs. An error and a single by Ducky Medwick accounted for two more and the victory. Of the nine hits against Dizzy, one was a homer by Bill Myers, one a triple and three were doubles.

In the first doubleheader of the season the Boston Red Sox downed the Senators 6-5, and then lost 6-2. Ed Linke and Jimmie Fox each connected for homers in the morning encounter.

Kennedy Stars on Mound

The four-hit pitching of Vernon Kennedy was the feature of the White Sox's 5-1 win over the Indians while the Boston Bees drove George Earnshaw from the mound as they took an 8-4 decision from the Brooklyn Dodgers. Four straight hits topped by Moore's homer spelled Earnshaw's downfall. The Giants dropped their first game in the six starts to the Phillies 7-6, despite Mel Ott's homer with two on in the ninth.

Yesterday's STARS

(By The Associated Press)

Wally Berger, Bees — Found Brooklyn pitchers for three hits, one a double, and drove in two runs.

Joe Bowman, Phillies — Checked Giants with 10 hits and cracked out three singles.

George Eichel and Frank Higgins, Athletics — Former hit home run with two on and latter got four hits and as many runs as A's defeated Yanks.

Frankie Frisch, Cardinals — His ninth-inning double cleared the loaded bases as Cards beat Reds.

Jimmy Fox, Red Sox — Pete Appleton, Senators — Fox hit home run and double in first game, and Appleton pitched five-hit ball in second.

Lyn Lary and Tom Carey, Browns — Led attack on Tigers' pitchers with three hits apiece.

Gus Suhr, Pirates — Hit home run a ninth with two on to give Pirates victory over Cubs.

Vernon Kennedy, White Sox — Held Indians to four hits.

Davis Cup Results In Matches Monday

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

April 21 (AP)—The American Davis Cup contingent entered the third round of the Mason-Paxon tennis tournament today, victorious in all the early frays.

The veteran Texan, Wilmer Allison, captain of the Davis Cup team and seeded No. 1, was handed a bye for the first round yesterday and in the second had little trouble beating A. M. Jukow of New York, 6-2, 6-1.

Don Budge of Oakland, Calif., got through the first with a default and then trimmed W. Hall 6-2, 6-4 to move on.

Bryan (Blitz) Grant, the Atlanta ace, also had a first round rest and turned on Charles Turner of Roanoke, Va., for a 6-3, 7-5, victory.

John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, the doubles ace, won an easy first match and had little trouble defeating Fred West of Lynchburg, Va., 6-2, 6-4.

Gene Nako of Los Angeles, with a first bye, spent little time getting rid of David Grey, West Virginia Wesleyan, 6-2, 6-2.

All the other seeded stars in the 16th annual spring racket tournament also moved into third round competition without much trouble.

Hal Surface, Jr., of Kansas City, who had a first round bye, beat J. Alben of Washington, 6-0, 6-1, in the second.

Wilmer Hines, Los Angeles, had a tough second round match before he defeated T. Mangan of Washington, 1-6, 6-1, 6-4.

J. Gilbert Hall of New York, idle in the first round, took W. Merrihew of New York, 6-0, 6-1.

Mackenzie Signs

Goshen, N. Y., April 21 (AP)—George (Doc) Mackenzie, bearded driver, signed up today as the first entry in the championship 100-mile automobile race to be held here June 13, officers of the Boshel Vile Track Association, Inc., announced.

Mackenzie won the eastern championship last year.

Kingston High Baseball Team In Workout With Alumni Saturday

With Kingston High School opening their baseball season against Port Jervis in less than two weeks a practice game is being arranged with an Alumni aggregation to see just how the Maroon and White players shape up.

Coaches Ken Anderson, Dick Whiston and Cliff Miller have at present a squad of 30 under their supervision from which they are trying to select a varsity nine.

Ralph DeCicco will be on the hot corner and Chapple Van Derzee will fill the short stop position as they did last year. Tony Rhinhardt is the most likely candidate to cover the midway sack while the vacancy at the initial sack has confronted the coaches with a major problem. Elmer Hopper and Tom McManus have been taking turns in covering first base.

Charlie Beck are slated to split the pitching assignments as well as playing at other positions when not on the mound. The backstop duties have been shared by Tommy Malnes, Vince Stoll and "Jah" Nyulasy.

With Malnes appearing to be the one to don the mask in the opening game. In recent workouts the outfield was patrolled by Tommy Malnes, Elmer Hopper, Ed Beck, Jim Ashdown and Ad Beckhoven.

The remaining squad members include Schoonmaker, Celuch, Rennie, Rennie, Brodhead and Slight, who are pitchers, Caprotti, Bartroff and Nickel are catchers. Coley, Benne, Teddini, E. McManus and Halstein, infielders, while McGrath, Rua and Studer patrol the outer garden.

AGRICULTURE

Uncle Ab says that unpleasant thoughts curdle the milk of human kindness.

Four to six weeks after hatching, begin to feed the grain mixture to chicks in hoppers, and keep it constantly before them.

Pastures should be grazed before the growth is too heavy; short pasture is more palatable to cattle and has more feeding value than tall pasture.

Heavy crops of berries should not be expected from a young raspberry planting until it is in its third or fourth growing season. A well-drained soil is essential to good growth.

A vegetable laboratory, the first of its kind in the world, has been established in the United States Department of Agriculture and 13 co-operating states near Charleston, S. C.

In New York, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania, March rainfall averages around three inches, the equivalent of 35 billion tons of water upon soil already saturated from previous rains and melted snow.

Modern dairy stables have a ventilation system, and others can be brought up-to-date with the help of Cornell Bulletin E-151 on dairy stable ventilation. Single copies may be had from the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca, New York.

SEVERAL REPORTS LATELY OF DOGS BITING CHILDREN

The police department this month received several reports of children being bitten by dogs. The latest report was received yesterday evening when it was reported that Roy Gill, 8, of 13 Spring street, while roller skating on lower Broadway, was bitten in the arm by a dog. The wound was cauterized at the Kingston Hospital.

Sparger is Shot
Kansas City, April 21 (AP)—Clarence Sparger, said by federal agents to be a member of the Walter (Irish) O'Malley gang, was shot three times and a federal agent was wounded in a gun fight at a tourist camp five miles south of Kansas City today. John Langdon, companion of Sparger, surrendered after 15 federal officers and representatives of the state highway patrol surrounded the tourist cabin. W. A. Smith, head of the Department of Justice here, said Sparger was sought in connection with a robbery at the First National Bank in Neosho, Mo., in 1935, and Langdon was wanted for Dyer law violations.

Million-Dollar Fire At Sharon, Pa., Today

Sharon, Pa., April 21 (AP)—A $1,000,000 fire wiped out Sharon's main shopping section early today and destroyed the Protected Home Circle Temple, headquarters of one of the country's oldest fraternal insurance organizations.

Fire Chief Roy Hall, who estimated the amount of the damage announced the blaze under control shortly before dawn. He said the origin was undetermined.

The flames were first noticed on the top floor of the four-story brick lodge building. S. H. Hadley, president of the organization, said there had been a special initiation there last night but everyone had gone home before midnight.

Fireman Fruit Sankey was the only person reported hurt when 14 fire companies fought the fire. He received a broken arm and other injuries in a fall from a roof.

Besides the P. H. C. Temple, the fire destroyed the adjacent Smith building and the Cohen Brothers building, all of the structures housing exclusive men's and women's clothing shops on their ground floors. Thirty guests in the Standard Hotel were ordered out but the flames did not reach it.

Thirty-eight per cent of Kansas counties increased tax levies this year for relief purposes.
